

Football

This article is part of a series produced by the British Council to help you learn English and learn about different Olympic and Paralympic sports.

Probably the world's most popular sport, football also takes its place at the Olympics.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

There's football at the Olympics? You don't hear much about it. I mean, it's not like the World Cup, is it?

You're right – the World Cup is definitely the biggest prize in football, but the sport has a long Olympic history too.

You're not going to tell me the ancient Greeks played, are you?

No, but football has been on the Olympic programme since 1900. And women's football since 1996. In comparison, the first World Cup only took place in 1930.

Ok, but I suppose the same teams always win: Brazil, Italy, Germany ...

Actually no. Italy's won once and Germany (the old German Democratic Republic) once also, but Brazil has never won.

Really? So who's won all the medals?

Hungary, the former Yugoslavia and the former Soviet Union have each won five medals in the men's competition and the USA women's team has won three golds.

Who's playing in London in 2012? Some of the best players in the world.

Only some? They aren't all coming?

Since 1992 male footballers have to be under 23 years old, though they can have three older players in each team. But you still get to see some real stars – in Beijing 2008 Messi and Ronaldinho both played.

And I can see them all in London?

No. Football is the only sport where events will take place outside England. Games will be played in Glasgow and Cardiff, as well as Manchester, Newcastle, Coventry, and of course London.

So fans might have to go to Scotland or Wales? That's a lot of travelling.

Not compared to the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles. Then, some games were played in Boston, more than 3,000 kilometres away!

Wow! You seem to know a lot about it – can I ask you just one more question?

Sure, what is it?

Can you explain the offside rule?

Um... not unless you've got all day...

THE RULES OF FOOTBALL

- Two teams of 11 players play on a pitch. Each team tries to score more goals than the other.
- A game lasts 90 minutes, divided into two 45-minute halves.
- Players can use any part of their body except their arms and hands to move the ball. The exception is when a player takes a throw-in.
- Goalkeepers can use their hands, especially when making a save.
- If a player commits a foul, then a free kick is awarded to the other team.
- If there is a foul inside the penalty area, a penalty kick is awarded to the other team.
- If there is a more serious foul such as a bad tackle or handball, the referee can show a yellow or red card. Two yellow cards or one red card mean a player is expelled from the game.
- If teams have the same score (a draw) then extra time and penalty shootouts are used to decide the winner.
- In Olympic football male players must be under 23 years old, though they can have three older players in each team. There are no age restrictions for female players.
