

Wheelchair Rugby

This article is part of a series produced by the British Council to help you learn English and learn about different Olympic and Paralympic sports.

How is wheelchair rugby different from other sports?

FACTS

Murderball

This sport was officially named 'wheelchair rugby' in the late 1980s. Until then, this thrilling and intense sport was known as 'murderball' - the name that a group of Canadian wheelchair athletes had given it when they invented it in 1976.

'Murderball' is also the title of a 2005 American documentary film which was nominated for Best Documentary Feature for the famous Academy Awards. It tells the story of a group of wheelchair rugby players and focuses on the rivalry between the Canadian and US teams leading up to the 2004 Paralympic Games.

Although it was made on a very low budget it got excellent reviews. In fact the Rotten Tomatoes film review website described it as, 'An entertaining and gripping documentary that shows being confined to a wheelchair doesn't mean the fun has to end.'

The film was also used in a US campaign called 'Get Into the Game', aimed at raising public awareness about people with disabilities.

With publicity like that it is not surprising that the game is believed to be the fastest growing wheelchair sport in the world.

Incidentally, the gold medal for wheelchair rugby at the 2004 Paralympic Games was won by New Zealand, with Canada second and the USA third.

ACTIVITY

Decide which sentence is true in each question.

- The sport...
 - has always been called 'wheelchair rugby'.
 - was originally called 'murderball' but is now called 'wheelchair rugby'.
 - was originally called 'wheelchair rugby' but is now called 'murderball'.
 - has always been called 'murderball'.
- The film is about the Canadian and US wheelchair rugby teams...
 - at the 2004 Paralympic Games.
 - at the Academy Awards.
 - competing for the same thing.
 - making a documentary film.
- The film...
 - cost a lot to make but the film critics didn't like it.
 - cost a lot to make but the film critics liked it.
 - did not cost much to make but the film critics didn't like it.
 - did not cost much to make but the film critics liked it.
- The Rotten Tomatoes film review and the 'Get Into the Game' campaign...
 - helped to make wheelchair rugby more popular.
 - made wheelchair rugby a faster sport.
 - were not surprising.
 - were made as publicity for the film.

RULES FOR WHEELCHAIR RUGBY

What is it?

Wheelchair Rugby is a mixed sport with teams that can contain both men and women. It includes elements of basketball, ice hockey and handball and can be played by athletes with leg and arm disabilities.

The object of the game is to carry the ball across the other team's goal line as many times as possible.

Who can compete?

Wheelchair Rugby is open to severely disabled wheelchair athletes with arm and hand disabilities.

Classification

There are seven classes, each of which has a point rating on a scale between 0.5 and 3.5. The ratings are based on functional ability associated with the game of rugby. The most severely disabled athletes receive a lower points rating. The more physically able athletes receive a higher points rating. Each team of four players is allowed a maximum of eight points.

How is it played?

- The ball is the same size and shape as a volleyball.
- A game consists of four quarters of eight minutes.
- The game begins with a tip-off.
- A goal is scored when a player touches or crosses the other team's goal line, inside the key area, while in control of the ball.
- The player with the ball must bounce or pass it at least every ten seconds.
- When a team gets possession of the ball, they have 40 seconds to score a goal.
- Contact between wheelchairs is allowed, but physical contact is a foul.
- If a player commits a minor foul the other team gets possession of the ball.
- If a player commits a more serious foul s/he must leave the court for one minute.

WORDSEARCH

B	Y	O	R	S	C	X	P	J	E
G	O	Y	N	Z	Q	C	O	D	F
Z	M	U	S	T	K	A	S	I	Q
M	F	M	N	P	D	Q	S	S	U
C	I	O	B	C	A	X	E	A	A
P	O	X	U	E	E	S	S	B	R
H	O	U	E	L	R	X	S	L	T
J	K	B	R	D	O	W	I	E	E
A	P	C	S	T	L	W	O	D	R
C	O	N	T	A	C	T	N	A	S

Find these words in the grid

mixed disabled quarters bounce pass

contact foul possession court

Answers 1. B; 2. C; 3. D; 4. A