Why is Charlie so cool ... like?

By Brendan Dunne

In April 2007, a 16-year-old British boy named Charlie McDonnell was studying for his exams. Being bored, he turned on his laptop computer, found a website called YouTube and watched a video of another teenager like him. The teenager was sitting in his bedroom and talking about how bored he was. 'I can do better than that!' thought Charlie. So he used his laptop and webcam to make his first video, and posted it on YouTube.

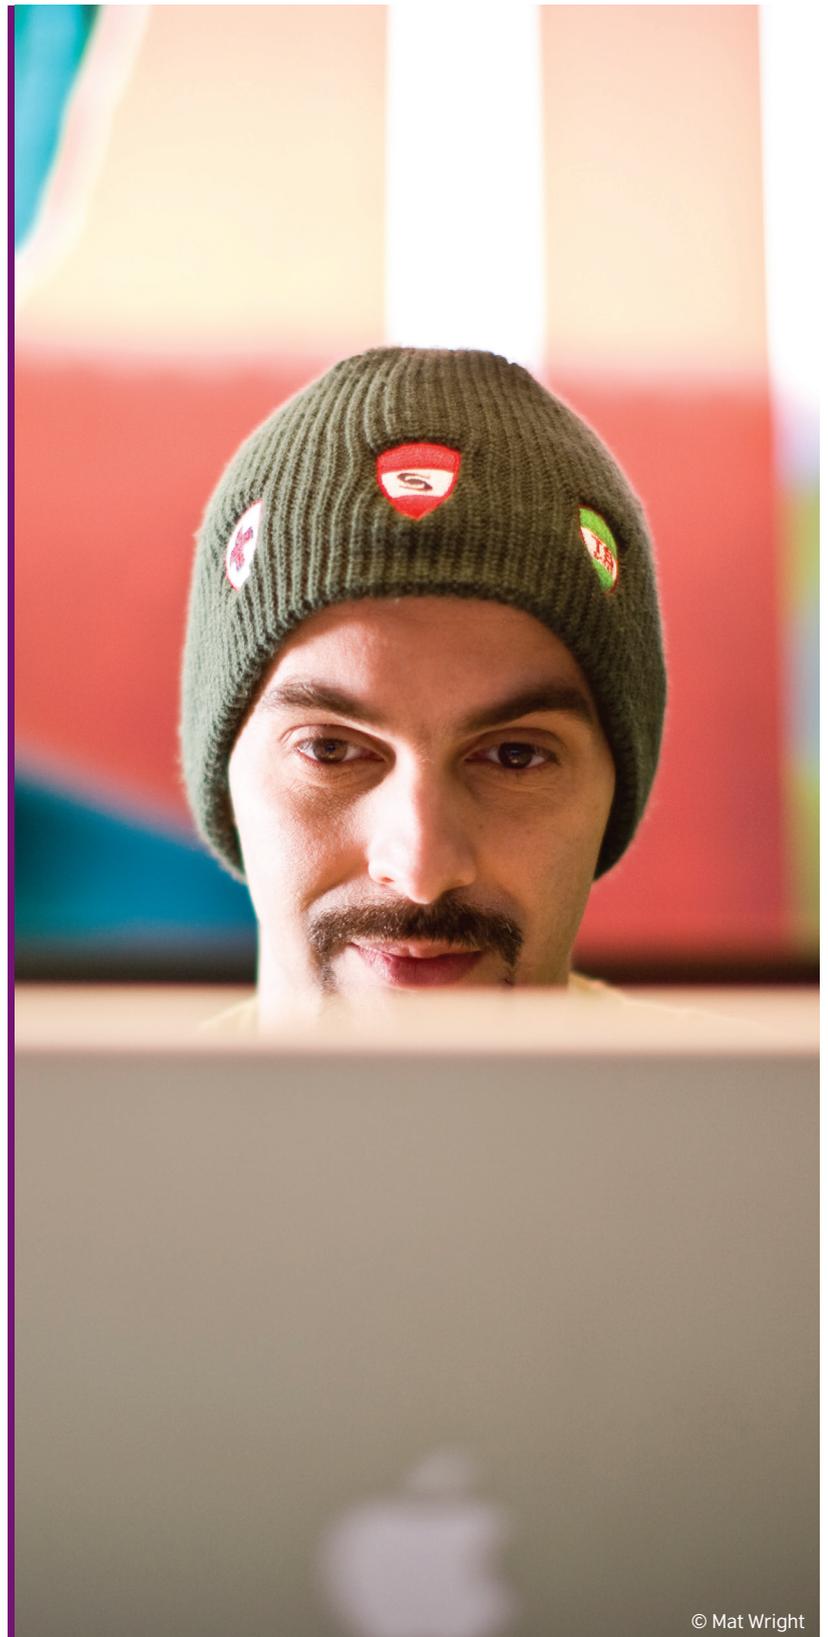

Two days later he had 150 subscribers, so he decided to make more videos. Oprah Winfrey, the famous American television host, showed one of them on her programme. In 'How to be English', Charlie wears a suit and tie, talks in a funny accent and shows viewers how to make a cup of tea. Charlie suddenly became very famous in the United States too.

To say thank you to all his fans he made 'Challenge Charlie', asking people to suggest funny or difficult things for him to do. Challenges included drinking tomato ketchup, wearing all of his clothes at once and painting himself purple!

Charlie is also a singer and songwriter. His most popular videos are of him singing and playing the ukelele. In 'Duet with Myself', he uses special effects to sing about what a boring person he is. This has now been watched over 7 million times!

With more than one and a half million subscribers, Charlie is the most popular video blogger in the UK. He has now made enough money to buy a house with his friend Alex. But what is the secret of his success? 'I make the kind of videos that I want to watch,' he says. How has fame affected him? Charlie says, 'I still sit in my bedroom talking to my camera, and that's what I want to do.'

And how did Charlie do in his exams back in 2007? Well, he passed with nine A grades and one B! He says he wants to go to university, but decided to try and make a career on YouTube before that. So far, it's going very well!
